PATENTS.
AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE,
And Agency of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington
92 State Street—Boston.

THE subscriber by appointment from the Commissioner of Patents is Agent of the U. S. Patent Office for the purpose of receiving and forwarding to the same all such models specimens of ingredients and manufactures as shall be intended to be patented, or deposited therein which will be received and forwarded free of expense and risk to our owners; and we will possess the despatch ... ...ch ... ...ill ... ...events. Specifications And Drawings will make researches into American and Foreign works for establishing the validity or utility of inventions, and render advice on all legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe and other countries.

By application at this office inventors are saved the time and expense of a journey to Washington and delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. The experience of fourteen years practice—an extensive collection of the work, documents, decisions &c. on mechanical subjects and the latest laws—the patents of different countries, collected at much expense during the long time this office has been established, and to which daily additions are being made together with accounts here of inventions presented at Washington, enable me to afford important assistance and information to inventors desirous of securing Patents which in other respects might be difficult of attainment.

RUST PROOF IRON,
FOR
ROOFING, WINDOW SHUTTERS, &c.

THE subscribers beg to call the attention of all those interested in roofing to their GALVANIZED TIN PLATES and to the many advantages which they possess over all metallic and other substances hitherto used for the purpose possessing as they do, the strength and durability of iron without its liability to rust having now been tested several years, both in this country and Europe. They are also less subject to expansion and contraction from sudden changes of the atmosphere than common Tin Plate Iron, Zinc &c. and will be found a much better and lighter roof, requiring less frequent repair, whilst the first cost is but a trifle more.

The subscribers would also call the attention of all dealers and workers in metals to the many other purposes to which Iron thus protected can be applied. In general terms it is applicable to all articles of iron which it is desirable to protect from the action of the atmosphere. And they would especially call the attention of those engaged in TELEGRAPHIC LINES, to their Galvanized Wire which is now almost entirely used in Europe and which answers every purpose as a conductor frequently, costing only half one and lasting as long as copper, and possessing equal durability with it, at most.

If any lately are testing Nails Spikes Bolts Wire &c., they will be able to furnish any article which may be desired. A supply of Plates (manufactured in Europe,) constantly on hand from 16 to 32 wire gauge.

☞ The attack of Mr Benton upon Mr Calhoun and his having to prove that Mr C is the author of the Mexican war reveals very clearly the fact, that the war is unpopular and the opposition leaders are ready to saddle, bridle, and ride it, though none are willing to bear it.

The contest between the locofocos is likely to be fixed upon the public mind as the war originated with the United States and with Mexico, as has been pretended. If the consequence to the people is to among us was the real motive that the war since has encursed the war, and locofocism was able to make a point just and right in order to maintain the honor of our country.

The true state of the case is that the President's war and the administration are responsible for it and all its attendants.

The contest between Mr Benton and Mr Calhoun is because it shows how utterly the various attempts of the opposition to censure the President's war by denouncing all per- a word against it as traitors — have been tried and failed. The people have taken against the war as one of aggression. Strong protests against it have been made in the Senate and in the House of Representatives. The press has spoken fearlessly and showed its iniquitous character.

The House of Representatives where the administration has a large majority, have refused to give the solid objection against the further prosecution of the war for the acquisition of territory. The people appropriated to the extension of Slavery and they will recede from this vote, as they do, the feeblest minded will be sent to, that it will be in obedience to the wishes of the President. The moral effect of votes is against the acquisition of territory for slavery. That vote is in accordance with the sentiment of the Free States and have they made concessions to slavery enough but if the president succeeding over to his views the votes of a few men of his party from the free States everywhere be understood as a bargain scheme and abominable, that a reversal of the vote to never will be quoted as an argument for war.

The administration are evidently becoming tired of its war and like the hunter holding the bear neither dare to hold on or to let go.

Bleecker's Gage.

The plum was formerly known by the name of Bleecker's German Gage. It is a sweet luscious fruit found in every large orchard.

In much cultivated along the banks of Lake Ontario and northern parts of New York, on the Genesee River, in latitude 43, which is proof of its hardiness. It is an old acquaintance of Mr Downing's who minutely describes it as follows, viz "A fruit of the first quality and the most popular plum in the northern and western portion of this State (N. Y.) being not only excellent, but remarkably hardy and a good and regular bearer. It was raised by the late Mrs Bleecker, of Albany, about 30 years ago, from a stone sent given her by the Rev Mr Dall, of Kingston, New York, which he received from Germany. The original tree still stands in their yard.

It ripens the first of August, from a week to two weeks later than Prince's Yellow Gage. Branches downy. Fruit of medium size, round oval and very regular. Suture scarcely perceptible. Stalk quite long straight and pretty stout, downy and slightly inserted. Skin yellow, with numerous shaded white specks and covered with a thin white bloom. Flesh yellow, rich, sweet, and luscious in flavor. Separates almost entirely from the stone, which is pointed at both ends. Leaves dark green. Easily distinguished from the Yellow Gage, by its longer and cutter stalk."

Prince's Yellow Gage.

American Yellow Gage of some

This is a popular early plum raised from the seed by William Prince, Esq., of Flushing, New York, in 1768, and cultivated extensively in that State as being decidedly superior to the English Yellow Gage, which is superseded by this rich fruit.

Mr Downing says, it is sometimes confounded in the vicinity of Boston with the Imperial Gage which is quite distinct.

It is an earlier plum by two or three weeks, than the last named. "Its great hardiness and productiveness, joined to its rich sugary flavor, make it a favorite variety. There is a tree in Newburgh, N Y thirty years old, which still bears most excellent crops annually. Fruit above medium size, and oval. Skin a golden yellow, a little clouded, and covered with a rich white bloom. Flesh deep yellow, rich sugary and melting, though not very juicy; parts freely from the stone. Ripens early in August.

The following old plums have had their virtues of popularity, but as others are now found decidedly superior to them, they have declined in cultivation. Some of them do not thrive on this river others are shy bearers, unhealthy trees, and all are either of ordinary flavor or more or less objectionable, more particularly for this climate, viz

In Harwich there must be some public library perhaps there are several. I would have you struggle to get admittance to one of them, perhaps that can't be impossible for you? To read even a few good books, above all to read them well: this is the clear way toward spiritual clearness; a way that will become always the clearer too the further one steadfastly perseveres in it.

But on the whole, I should always be kept in mind, that a man's faculty is not given him in the long run for speculation; that no man's faculty is so given him. The harmony of soul which would fain utter itself from you in rhymed verses, how much nobler to make it utter itself in rhymed conduct in excellent manful endeavor to subdue the rugged ness of your life under your feet and everywhere make order reign around you of what is in disorder! That is a task all men are born to, and all other tasks are either nothing or else branches of this.

Whether these hurried words will have any light for you at present I know not, but if my wishes could avail, you should not want for guidance.

Tell your good little sister to be very careful of the Spring winds. Summer will help her. Give my kind regards to your father,—and persist with the best insight you have, I prosper well.

Yours very truly,

T CARLYLE

Speaking Plain.

Say what you mean. We do not mean by this, that every den that is conceived must be thrust out, for even the truth is not to be told at all times, and a careful reserve will often do more good for an individual or a cause, than a volume of words. But we speak again at the lukewarm, sickening, and unmanly philosophy which would preserve an unvarying nonconformity unless of committal involves no fear of harm—that keeps a man equidistant from all contending opinions like the ass between two bundles of hay, seeing both, but choosing neither—that clamps down with iron fetters the impulses of the soul, the winds and waves of the intellectual world—that checks the escape of every honest thought with the warning cry, "Take care, take care! it may hurt you" and you got better wait a little! Caution is a good counsellor, but a very bad master. The man whom it rules is the most abject of slaves his tyrant is ever present, ever active! Poor slave! would epigrams, you dare not utter—feelings you dare not express—ends you dare not proclaim—a mind and manhood you dare not reveal—a soul pure as the sunlight, and open as noonday, you dare not unfold them to enforce the ayes and nays.

The sad rest of all notions that ever entered the minds of young ladies and of their mammas, is, that it is disreputable to be acquainted with any habits of useful industry. In this country and last, where few parents can bequeath to their daughters large fortunes, and where few husbands can support them in idleness, this, of all others, is the most ridiculous plantation. There is certainly no reason in the nature of things, why young ladies should not be trained to industrious habits, in such duties, as are fitting for them, as that young men should not. Yet many mothers, who are fully aware of the absurdity of bringing up their sons in idleness were not their own hearts in willing slavery, that their daughters may have the first moral acquisition of not knowing any useful employment.

This is short sighted and mistaken tenderness. If their daughters are left without supporters, will this tender nurturing avail to free, and clothe, and protect them? Or, in a more fortunate event, will it give the foresight, the prudence, the skill, which the duties of future life demand? Depend upon it, fair readers, however much more necessary attainments may commend to the admiration of the flatterers, yet few sensible men want wives mere gay ornaments to their household establishments, but as companions and helpmates, in the duties and cares which inevitably devolve upon them.

What is there in the habits of industry that need necessarily affect unfavorably the graceful attainments of a young lady? Any thing that should make them think meanly of act unworthily? Any thing that should produce rudeness of conversation or awkwardness of manners? Any thing that should in any degree, blunt their perception of what is correct in taste or becoming action? No, nothing—assuredly nothing! Let them, then, learn to knit and sew, to bake and wash, and cook dinners and darn stockings, and all other arts of accomplished housewifery. I will impart to them a vigorous constitution—an elasticity and grace of movement, and a bloom of health, that are a thousand times more endearing than the soft and sickly existence which is nurtured in luxurious idleness.—Chicago Cavalier.

A Parable for Little Girls.

Naomi, the young and lovely daughter of Salathiel and Judith, was troubled in spirit, because of the approaching feast of Purim; lets she would be compelled to appear in her plain undyed stole, while some of her young acquaintances would appear in blue and purple and fine linen of the land of Egypt. Her mother saw the gloom that appeared upon the face of the lovely child, and thinking her apart, related to her this parable. A dove was in its original form, but in process of time it was changed into a woman. And it came to pass that she was married unto a husband who was a man of understanding, and he was a lover of peace. And they dwelt together in a house which was built upon a rock, and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house, and it fell not, for it was founded upon a rock.

And the woman was with child, and she brought forth a daughter, and they called her name Naomi. And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, and the favor of God was upon her.

Now it came to pass that the woman looked upon her husband, and behold he was not as he had been. His countenance was overcast, and his brow was knit, and his eyes were cast down, and he spake not unto her. And she said unto him, What aileth thee, my husband? Hast thou seen a vision? Hast thou heard a voice? Hast thou been smitten by the hand of the Lord? And he answered her not.

And she went unto her daughter Naomi, and said unto her, Naomi, my daughter, what aileth thy father? Hath he been angry with me? Hath he been angry with thee? Hath he been angry with any one? And Naomi answered her mother, and said, Mother, I know not. Behold, I am thy daughter, and I am a child, and I know not what aileth my father. But I will go unto him, and I will speak unto him, and I will ask him what aileth him.

And Naomi went unto her father, and she said unto him, Father, what aileth thee? Hast thou been angry with me? Hast thou been angry with any one? And he answered her not.

And she went unto her mother, and said unto her, Mother, I have been unto my father, and I have spoken unto him, and I have asked him what aileth him. But he answered me not. And her mother said unto her, Naomi, my daughter, thy father is a man of understanding, and he is a lover of peace. And he is not angry with me, nor with any one. But he is sad, and he is troubled in spirit, because of the approaching feast of Purim. And he knoweth that I must appear in my plain undyed stole, and he is grieved for me. But I am not grieved for myself, for I know that I am fair in the sight of the Lord, and that my garments are pure in the sight of the Lord. And I am content to appear in my plain undyed stole, that my husband may be glad

Pulmonary Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain in the Breast, Spitting of Blood, Croup, Hooping Cough, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervous Tremours, &c.

☞ In introducing this medicine to the public, we deem it proper to state for the information of those at a distance; that it is the preparation of a regular graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, a physician of twenty years' practice. To show the standing of Dr. Davis, and the character of his medicine, we offer the following editorial notices from newspapers of Philadelphia:—

From the American Sentinel, Dec. 16, 1845.

In our first page columns will be found a notice of Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. In Dr W. we are assured is a respectable physician of this city, and we have had placed before us certificates of cures, from respectable citizens, that is sufficient to authorize the extraordinary virtues of his medicine.

From the Public Ledger and Daily Times, Dec 15, 1845.

We ask attention to the advertisements of Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. Dr D. is a respectable physician of this city, and many years practice in the medicine is sufficient to warrant the satisfactory testimonials. Having had occasion to observe the names of a number of well known and respectable citizens.

From the Christian Repository, Dec 13 1845

We insert in another column an advertisement of Messrs. Richards & Co. ins. of this city, to which we take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers. We do this more especially from the card of Dr. Parnes which he appends to it. Rev. H. is a minister of the M. E. Church in good standing, and all those who know him personally, have the highest confidence in his statements. I feel myself bound in justice to the efficacy of any medicine which he may have tested.

From the Philadelphia Daily Keystone, Nov 29. 1845.

A Valuable Medicine.—On Monday, we will commence publishing a series of testimonials in favor of one of the most popular medicine for pulmonary diseases Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. We are happy to say that we are personally acquainted with that respectable physician, as well as with a number of the gentlemen who are entitled to respectability, and every confidence may be placed in their statements. It strikes us that a medicine under such auspices is entitled to the attention of the afflicted.

From the Native Eagle, Dec 1, 1845.

We refer our readers to our advertising columns for a notice of Dr Davis's Compound of Wild Cherry and Tar for affections of the lungs a reasonable desideratum in the present inclement season. When old Boreas has so suddenly and harsh hand upon us, scattering coughs and colds about our land. Other evidence will be continued from day to day. We may add that we are acquainted with Dr Davis and can vouch for the veracity of the persons who testify to the good effects of his medicine, and can vouch for their respectability, and its genuineness.

The above medicine may be procured of Messrs. Brown, Cuppin & Whitney, Nos. 15 and 16 Commercial street corner and also of Messrs. HALL, YOUNG, No. 4 Smith's Block Bangor, Agents for this section of the State.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

BUCHAN'S
LUNGAR AND BALSAM
OF LIFE.

THE
GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY
For Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and other Diseases of the CHEST and LUNGS!

BUCHAN'S HUNGARIAN BALSAM, a Great English Remedy for Pulmonary and Pulmonic diseases, still stands unrivalled and to vary and to it is an elegant, agreeable, and effectual cure of the formidable complaints, now known to be existing world

Three years of trial in the United States during which time it has been attributed from Maine to Florida, has been spread to establish it as a standard remedy in all parts of the country the great in the worst cases of Pulmonary diseases, in the last and most severe stages of consumption. All the symptoms of colds, coughs and inflammation, that can possibly be caused

SPITTING OF BLOOD! This frightful symptom of approaching Consumption is speedily checked and prevented by the use of Buchan's Hungarian Balsam which flattens it collects, transmutes, reduces the patient to rest, and restores those vital organs, the lungs to sound and healthy condition

REMEMBER THIS A dreadful bleeding case from a tooth key to [illegible] cured in one hour and in the worst case of Consumption, Dysentery, Diarrhoea, and those organs particularly affected by the Liver, will be checked, stifled outset [illegible] and in a later [illegible] in death A person who loses [illegible] blood again, unless a proper curative is immediately employed

PAIN IN THE SIDE This disease or symptom Consumption arises [illegible] and among one of the [illegible] the Balsam can find the [illegible] affection of the lungs see In either case it is very dangerous in its form of disease it requires to be [illegible] and [illegible] using the Balsam freely and with [illegible] the inflammation of the lungs [illegible] removed at once and [illegible] object so speedily and [illegible] Remedy, discovered by Dr Buchan [illegible] all the [illegible]

LIVER COMPLAINT In cases of Consumption the Liver is generally [illegible] spleen, it pains and small [illegible] Consumptive patients, I advise the use of [illegible] those organs particularly affected the Liver, will become fatty, oily and swelled [illegible] effect of the Hungarian Balsam is as great [illegible] disease

Simple sense of the Liver unattended by Consumption is speedily cured by its use

WINTER'S COUGH The hard, dry, [illegible] winter cough which often old people, and even [illegible] state of health is rapidly affected by the Hungarian Balsam

It warms moistens and stimulates the whole [illegible] apparatus, removes all morbid and [illegible] and [illegible] it, purifies and [illegible] the [illegible] the secretive power of the Liver, relieves at [illegible] large glands, and the [illegible] and [illegible] new life to the whole constituted system

BRONCHITIS Bronchial Difficulty of Breathing, Harsh Cough, is [illegible] expectoration, all other symptoms caused by an affection of the [illegible] and ring from the throat to the lungs are [illegible] cally cured by the use of this [illegible] [illegible] ed by Dr Buchan

This is a very painful, wearing and [illegible] complaint and always has a [illegible] tendency to inflame and [illegible] the Lungs and thereby [illegible] duce the worst form of Pulmonary disease Be warned in time, we afflicted and employ those valuable remedy

TUBERCLES ON THE LUNGS The Hungarian Balsam is the only popular remedy when [illegible] any power to disease, relieve, and cure Tubercles on the Lungs Incredible as it is generally esteemed, we have the most abundant and conclusive evidence to assure the afflicted that such is its direct and immediate effect in all cases where there is no natural organic [illegible] In fact so sudden is the American [illegible] its power to cure the worst form of this disease that we prefers, (as he has frequently stated) that it should be used by those who have been PRONOUNCED INCURABLE by the most eminent physicians, rather than by persons [illegible] with some slighter form of disease—in order that the triumphs might be more apparent He boldly declares that it will cure [illegible] disease and confidently solicits a trial for the worst of cases

EXPECTORATION I rect expectoration as the most important object to be attained in all attempts to cure diseases of the Chest and Lungs The Cough, which is so distressing is simply the result of a desire to expectorate, and as long as foul matter lexists in the air passage it will continue to irritate the membrane and provoke a cough Coughing is an attempt to throw off this matter, and expectoration gives great relief This fatality to exp ectoration the latter stages of Consumption is the cause of death

The Hungarian Balsam is a great Expectorant—It dissolves the morbid and diseased matter in the air passage, changes its [illegible] thick, and [illegible] such a state to a thin harmless fluid, and throws it with the greatest possible ease and comfort to the patient There is no better remedy in the world, if its expectorant quality [illegible] be considered

SPASMODIC ASTHMA Simple or spasmodic Asthma, has no better remedy than the Hungarian Balsam This painful and destructive affection which resists almost every thing else, yields to the all powerful influence of this great remedy, as readily as any other form of Pulmonic disease

CONSUMPTION Consumption has been graphically described as a Slowing Fever's Gift The Hungarian Balsam by its elegant, warming, softening and animating powers, produces, not shrinking but expansion

Before its delightful influence, all chills, fever, night sweats cease, shyness of the nails, hectic flushed skin, an uncertain strength, emaciation and decline—disappear, like the cold clouds of night before the glorious morning sun! There is no delusion but plain demonstrable fact, sustained by the unquestionable proof from all parts of the country

BE WISE TO DAY Do not in any case of Consumption [illegible] a quackish Death, under an ordinary [illegible] The Hungarian Balsam is a great ANTIDOTE, as well a CURATIVE If you have any symptoms above described, be advised in time

This is a very [illegible] and [illegible] complaint and always has a [illegible] tendency to inflame and [illegible] the Lungs and thereby [illegible] duce the worst form of Pulmonary disease Be warned in time, we afflicted and employ those valuable remedy
